Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Sunday 06 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Morning rain easing with sunshine and showers following.

Today:
Outbreaks of rain spreading across the region through the morning with heavy bursts at times. Rain slowly fading by midday with scattered showers and some sunny spells following. Feeling rather warm and humid, with light winds. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Tonight:
Any lingering showers during the evening gradually clearing through the night. Clear spells for some areas with the odd shower still possible. Turning cloudy with fog patches forming by dawn. Minimum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Monday:
Any overnight fog will clear during the early morning. Skies will gradually brighten, with some sunny spells developing. However, the odd shower is also possible. Temperature remaining warm. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Fine and dry on Tuesday with plenty of clear spells. Unsettled for Wednesday and Thursday with sunny spells and scattered showers, possibly heavy. Feeling warm with winds strengthening throughout.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.